We had the pleasure (it was indeed a pleasure,) of attending the examination of the above institution for one day. (Monday.) To say that the pupils did well would be the truth but hardly the whole truth-to say that they did admirably would but feebly express their merits. The portion of the exercises which we listened to was of course but a small part fore. of the entire examination-but still enough to contheir school.

The Institute to-day completes its second year, and it may now be considered a "fixed fact." Buring the session just closed they had in attendance over 100 pupils, and those of a class that will always reflect credit on a school; -hard students, young men and women anxious to progress in acquiring an education, and who attend for no other purpose. One admirable rule is in force there--- and that is if a pupil will not study, he cannot stay. We were assured this was strictly enforced, and its benefit is seen in the lively interest taken in the school by all the pupils Wealth nor high position in society will not entitle a young man or lady to continue in the school, if with these they are wanting in energy---in application---in industry Were this tule adopted in all institutions there would be fewer brainless tops in the world who think, because they have suryed a certain length of time at a college, they are learned.

An effort was made, we understand, at the last session of the Pittsburg Conference to have this institution endowed as a college, by subscriptions, and the i-suing of perpetual scholarships, and a commit tee was appointed to solicit subscriptions for this purpose. We see no reason why a college in Eastern Ohio cannot be sustained, and made creditable to those engaged, and beneficial to the community. no better teachers for it than the present tutors there interested in this matter will think of it, and when that the slavery agitation in this country solicited for subscriptio ns respond cheerfully and liberally,

If it should ever be changed to a college, gentlemen, by all means make industry, and studious habits a test of Scholarship. Enforce the rule strictly, and it will be better for the teachers and the

As a classical scholar --- a linguist, Prof. DAVENPORT has few equals no superiors --- as a mathematician Prof. Thomrson is one of the most thorough in the country. Affable courteous and gentlemanly, they have the most admirable control of their pupils, without using harsh measures, or without destroying that easy confidence which should always exist between teacher and scholar.

Notice of the commencement of the fall session will be given in due time.

"He was glad that the portion of the amendment which referred to the Missouri Compromise had been struck out. He was not a member of Congress when that compromise was made, but it is due to cander to state that his impressions were in favor; but it is equally due to it to say, that with his present experience and knowledge of the spirit which then, for the first time began to disclose itself, he had entirely changed his opinion. He now believed that it was a dangerous measure. Had it then been met with uncompromising opposition, such as a then distinguished and sargetions measure.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Upon this Mr. Benton remarks:

This declaration is explicit. It is made in a spirit of candor, and as due to justice. It is a declaration spontaneously made, not an admission obtained on interrogatories. It shows that Mr. Calhoun was in favor of the compromise at the time it was adopted, and had since changed his opinions—"entirely changed" them, to use his words—not on constitutional but expedient grounds.

The Post says:

Mr. Benton demonstrates that Mr. Calhoun admitted this constitutional power (over Slavery in th) Territories) in 1820, and again in very in the Territories) in 1820, and again in NEURALGIA.-This formidable disease, 1887-8, but it so happened that no one remembered these admissions in 1847-8. If they had been remembered, it is unlikely that the slavery agitation in this country would have taken a different direction.

Mr. Calhoun was the father of the "unconstitutionality doctrine," and, till he broached it' there was no stateman in public life who doubted that the newer of Congress over also doubted that the newer of Congress over also.

If you have contracted the terrible disease which, when once scated in the system, will surely go down from one generation to another, undermining the constitution and sapping the very vital fluids of life, do not trust yourself in the hands of Quacks, who start up every day in a city like this, and fill the papers with giaring falsehoods too well calculated to deceive the young and those not acquainted with their tricks.—You cannot be too careful in the selection of a remedy in these cases.

You cannot be too expedition the selection of a tender in these cases.

The Fluid Explact Bucht has been probounced by eminent physicians the Grantst Runtst aver knows. It is a medicine perfectly pleasure in its taste and very innocent in its action, and yet so thorough that it annihilates every particle of the rank and poisonous virtue of this dreadful disease; and, unlike other remedies, it does not dry up the disease in blood.
